Southern Illinois University
at Carbondale

Commencement

May 11, 12, and 13, 1990

PETERSON

The commencement ceremony is an important occasion not only for you but for other graduates, families, and friends. Although it is a happy time, it should not be a time of revelry. Your conduct at the ceremony should be dignified. Alcoholic beverages may not be brought into the Arena or Shryock Auditorium, either by degree candidates or guests. Security personnel will be on hand at both locations to deal with alcohol or other distracting objects.

Commencement

May 11, 12, and 13, 1990

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale

When its doors were first opened in 1874, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale was a place where teachers and scholars believed that their graduates should be prepared to make useful contributions to the health and strength of society. This is still our intention. Outstanding departments, dedicated faculty, thorough and often inspired instruction, and a thoughtful blending of old wisdom with new knowledge have become the hallmarks of the University.

Because this is true, we can point with pride to our alumni, many of whom are distinguished scholars, business leaders, artists, and public servants, and many more of whom are essential to organizations and communities throughout the nation.

Knowing that classroom learning is only one facet of education, we help students learn to play through intramural sports, training in crafts, outdoor activities for individuals and groups, a variety of musical organizations; learn to help themselves through wellness education, physical fitness training, and counseling; learn to help others through fraternal, community service, political, and volunteer groups; learn to see and know their surroundings through hands-on projects, field trips, lectures, and excursions of their own.

In encouraging students to explore the avenues and byways of knowledge and experience, our aim is to expand their view of the world in such a way that, while they focus on the particulars of their careers, they will be able to see their lives and their work in the broad context of the communities and the world they will be inhabiting.

Academic Regalia

The academic regalia, consisting of cap, gown, and hood, originated about the twelfth century and was worn primarily for warmth. Later, the material of the gown and lining and shape of the hood represented the economic and social as well as the academic status of the wearer

In 1895, a commission of American educators established an inter-collegiate code for the academic regalia. This code, revised in 1932 and again in 1960, provides a comprehensive system of academic regalia for American colleges and universities. While the code specifies black gowns, foreign universities and a growing number of American universities have gowns of various colors

There are three types of gowns and hoods--the bachelor's, master's, and doctor's. The bachelor's gown is untrimmed and has a closed front and long pointed sleeves. Women may wear a white collar with the bachelor's gown when no hood is worn. The master's gown is untrimmed, may be worn open or closed, and has extremely long, closed sleeves with an opening at the wrist. The end of the sleeves are square with an arc extending from the wrist opening to the square end. The doctor's gown may be worn open or closed and has round, bell-shaped sleeves. There are wide velvet borders down the front and three velvet bars on each sleeve; the borders and bars may be black or the color of the discipline of the degree

The hood for each degree has a distinctive form. The bachelor's hood is three feet in length and has a narrow velvet edging with little of the lining exposed. The master's hood is three and one-half feet in length with wider velvet edging and more of the lining exposed. The doctor's hood is four feet in length with the widest velvet edging and full exposure of the lining. Hoods are lined with the color(s) of the college or university conferring the degree. The color of the velvet edging identifies the discipline of the degree

The black mortarboard cap is standard in the United States, although soft tams are worn at some universities. Tassels are usually black, except when no hood is worn, in which case the color of the tassel represents the field of study. Doctor's caps may have gold tassels. Upon conferral of the degree the tassel is worn on the left of the cap. Caps are considered part of the academic regalia and are customarily removed only during prayer, oath, or pledge, and then by men only

Southern Illinois University School of Medicine graduates wear gowns of maroon, the color of the university, with black velvet borders and bars, and soft, eight-point black velvet tams with green tassels. The lining of the hood is maroon with a white chevron and the velvet border is green, the color of the discipline of medicine.

Commencement

August 4, 1990

The commencement ceremony is an important occasion not only for you but for other graduates, families, and friends. Although it is a happy time, it should not be a time of revelry. Your conduct at the ceremony should be dignified. Alcoholic beverages may not be brought into the Arena either by degree candidates or guests. Security personnel will be on hand to deal with alcohol or other distracting objects.

Commencement

August 4, 1990

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale

When its doors were first opened in 1874, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale was a place where teachers and scholars believed that their graduates should be prepared to make useful contributions to the health and strength of society. This is still our intention. Outstanding departments, dedicated faculty, thorough and often inspired instruction, and a thoughtful blending of old wisdom with new knowledge have become the hallmarks of the University.

Because this is true, we can point with pride to our alumni, many of whom are distinguished scholars, business leaders, artists, and public servants, and many more of whom are essential to organizations and communities throughout the nation.

Knowing that classroom learning is only one facet of education, we help students learn to play through intramural sports, training in crafts, outdoor activities for individuals and groups, a variety of musical organizations; learn to help themselves through wellness education, physical fitness training, and counseling; learn to help others through fraternal, community service, political, and volunteer groups; learn to see and know their surroundings through hands-on projects, field trips, lectures, and excursions of their own.

In encouraging students to explore the avenues and byways of knowledge and experience, our aim is to expand their view of the world in such a way that, while they focus on the particulars of their careers, they will be able to see their lives and their work in the broad context of the communities and the world they will be inhabiting.

Academic Regalia

The academic regalia, consisting of cap, gown, and hood, originated about the twelfth century and was worn primarily for warmth. Later, the material of the gown and lining and shape of the hood represented the economic and social as well as the academic status of the wearer.

In 1895, a commission of American educators established an inter-collegiate code for the academic regalia. This code, revised in 1932 and again in 1960, provides a comprehensive system of academic regalia for American colleges and universities. While the code specifies black gowns, foreign universities and a growing number of American universities have gowns of various colors.

There are three types of gowns and hoods--the bachelor's, master's, and doctor's. The bachelor's gown is untrimmed and has a closed front and long pointed sleeves. Women may wear a white collar with the bachelor's gown when no hood is worn. The master's gown is untrimmed, may be worn open or closed, and has extremely long, closed sleeves with an opening at the wrist. The end of the sleeves are square with an arc extending from the wrist opening to the square end. The doctor's gown may be worn open or closed and has round, bell-shaped sleeves. There are wide velvet borders down the front and three velvet bars on each sleeve; the borders and bars may be black or the color of the discipline of the degree.

The hood for each degree has a distinctive form. The bachelor's hood is three feet in length and has a narrow velvet edging with little of the lining exposed. The master's hood is three and one-half feet in length with wider velvet edging and more of the lining exposed. The doctor's hood is four feet in length with the widest velvet edging and full exposure of the lining. Hoods are lined with the color(s) of the college or university conferring the degree. The color of the velvet edging identifies the discipline of the degree.

The black mortarboard cap is standard in the United States, although soft tams are worn at some universities. Tassels are usually black, except when no hood is worn, in which case the color of the tassel represents the field of study. Doctor's caps may have gold tassels. Upon conferral of the degree the tassel is worn on the left of the cap. Caps are considered part of the academic regalia and are customarily removed only during prayer, oath, or pledge, and then by men only.

Southern Illinois University School of Medicine graduates wear gowns of maroon, the color of the university, with black velvet borders and bars, and soft, eight-point black velvet tams with green tassels. The lining of the hood is maroon with a white chevron and the velvet border is green, the color of the discipline of medicine.

May 10, 11, and 12, 1991

The commencement ceremony is an important occasion not only for you but for other graduates, families, and friends. Although it is a happy time, it should not be a time of revelry. Your conduct at the ceremony should be dignified. Alcoholic beverages may not be brought into the Arena either by degree candidates or guests. Security personnel will be on hand to deal with alcohol or other distracting objects.

Commencement

May 10, 11, and 12, 1991

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale

When its doors were first opened in 1874, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale was a place where teachers and scholars believed that their graduates should be prepared to make useful contributions to the health and strength of society. This is still our intention. Outstanding departments, dedicated faculty, thorough and often inspired instruction, and a thoughtful blending of old wisdom with new knowledge have become the hallmarks of the University.

Because this is true, we can point with pride to our alumni, many of whom are distinguished scholars, business leaders, artists, and public servants, and many more of whom are essential to organizations and communities throughout the nation.

Knowing that classroom learning is only one facet of education, we help students learn to play through intramural sports, training in crafts, outdoor activities for individuals and groups, a variety of musical organizations; learn to help themselves through wellness education, physical fitness training, and counseling; learn to help others through fraternal, community service, political, and volunteer groups; learn to see and know their surroundings through hands-on projects, field trips, lectures, and excursions of their own.

In encouraging students to explore the avenues and byways of knowledge and experience, our aim is to expand their view of the world in such a way that, while they focus on the particulars of their careers, they will be able to see their lives and their work in the broad context of the communities and the world they will be inhabiting.

Distinguished Service Award

Hiram H. Lesar

Hiram H. Lesar, founding dean of the School of Law at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale and Visiting Distinguished Service Professor, is a legal scholar and administrator of vast experience who is nationally recognized for his contributions to legal scholarship and administrative leadership.

Dr. Lesar twice headed the University in times of administrative change, serving once as Interim President and once as Acting President.

Dr. Lesar was born in 1912 in Thebes, Illlinois. Receiving an A.B. with honors from the University of Illinois in 1934, he earned his J.D. with honors from the University of Illinois in 1936. After completing his studies as a Sterling Research Fellow, he received the J.S.D. (Doctor of the Science of Laws) from Yale Law School in 1938.

Following two years' service in the Navy during World War II, Dr. Lesar joined the University of Missouri law faculty in 1946, rising to full professor in 1948 and becoming editor of The Missouri Law Review. In 1957 he was named professor of law at Washington University, St. Louis, where he became editor of The Washington University Law Quarterly. In 1960, he was named dean of the Washington University School of Law and Zumbalen Professor of Law.

In 1972 Dr. Lesar was named dean and professor of law at the new Southern Illinois University School of Law.

Dr. Harry J. Haynsworth IV, professor of law and present dean of the SIUC law school, who nominated Dr. Lesar for this award, recalls what happened next:

"He recruited a talented and energetic group of young legal scholars to join the faculty. He negotiated the budget, physical facilities, library, and staffing of the school and principally drafted the operating documents of the school. After recruiting the initial class of students, Dean Lesar oversaw the opening for classes in 1973. From that date forward, Dean Lesar nurtured and led the law school through a period of significant growth in the size of the faculty and student body, provisional and then full accreditation by the Association of American Law Schools. and was instrumental in securing the funding for a permanent building to house the law school, a building which now proudly bears his name.

"During this time of growth and development of the law school, Dean Lesar twice assumed the administrative leadership of the University, serving as Interim President in 1974 and as Acting President from 1979 to 1980. Since Dean Lesar stepped down from the deanship of the law school, he has continued to contribute to the law school as a Distinguished Service Professor (1980–82) and as a Visiting Distinguished Service Professor since 1983. Dean Lesar continues to teach in legal writing and reasoning and trusts and estates classes and to contribute significantly to legal scholarship, particularly in the area of trusts and estates. In addition, Dean Lesar continues to be of invaluable assistance to the present law school administration, which almost daily draws on his experience and expertise as the law school continues to meet the challenge of continuing the tradition of excellence which Dean Lesar began.

"Dean Lesar is, in a very real sense, synonymous with the Southern Illinois University School of Law. Without his energy, resolve and foresight, the law school would never have achieved the success which it now enjoys."

In recognition of his contributions to the law school and to the University, the region, and the State of Illinois, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale finds it fitting and proper to present the Distinguished Service Award to Hiram H. Lesar.

Distinguished Service Award

Anne West Lindsey

Anne West Lindsey has had an active professional career as an author, educator, and leader in public service.

In nominating Mrs. Lindsey for this award, Rex H. Ball, President of the SIU Foundation, said:

"In my opinion, Mrs. Lindsey completely satisfies the criteria for the Distinguished Service Award. She has made, and still is making, significant contributions to the State of Illinois, to our region, and to Southern Illinois University. Her almost two decades of service as a member of the Foundation's Board of Directors is but one example of her outstanding dedication and commitment."

A native of Carterville, Elizabeth Anne West was graduated from Carterville Community High School in 1931 as valedictorian. She was graduated from Southern Illinois (Normal) University in 1935, having majored in English, French, and education. She did postgraduate work in journalism at the University of Missouri. She married Circuit Judge Harold L. Zimmerman (now deceased) in 1959 and later married attorney (retired) Wyatt A. Lindsey of Marion.

Mrs. Lindsey has taught at Marion Community High School, and at a number of American colleges and universities, as lecturer, guest speaker, writer-in-residence and workshop conductor.

Her articles have appeared in some 170 national U.S. magazines, including Holiday, Saturday Evening Post, Reader's Digest, Good Housekeeping, Mademoiselle, Glamour and Ford Times. She is the author of numerous television dramas for programs including Robert Montgomery Presents, Fireside Theatre and Alcoa Theatre, and the play Heart-Sound of a Stranger.

Mrs. Lindsey has served as a reporter, feature writer, and columnist for a number of Midwestern and Eastern newspapers. Her work has been published in France, England, Denmark, Australia, and Canada, as well as in the United States.

She is the recipient of the Morris Library Delta Award (1982) and the Williamson County SIU Alumni Chapter Distinguished Service Award.

Besides serving on the SIU Foundation Board of Directors, Mrs. Lindsey is a founder and former chairperson of the Friends of WSIU-WUSI TV Board. She has served on the Board of the National Friends of Public Broadcasting, the Morris Library Advisory Board, the Marion Cultural and Civic Center Board, the State of Illinois Steering Committee for the Arts, the Humanities Advisory Board at John A. Logan College, the Friends of Mitchell Museum at Mt. Vernon, and the Illinois Humanities Council.

In his letter nominating Mrs. Lindsey for the Distinguished Service Award, Ivan A. Elliott Jr., SIU Trustee and longtime SIU Foundation member, recalled Mrs. Lindsey's six-year stint on the Foundation Board (1972–78):

"Her attendance and participation was faithful and productive. She was the chairperson of the nominating committee for four years. During this time, the Foundation changed its thrust and became a major force in fund raising for the University. One thing that had to be done was to replace a number of persons on the board. (Mrs. Lindsey) gave leadership in planning and accomplishing these changes. This needed to be done over a period of time and with finesse. She did that very effectively. She gave leadership in establishing a six-year maximum term for directors. Her leadership, spirit and humor will be missed."

In recognition of her contributions to the SIU Foundation, as well as to the University, the region and the State of Illinois, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale finds it fitting and proper to present the Distinguished Service Award to Anne West Lindsey.

Honorary Degree

Doctor of Science

James L. McGaugh

James L. McGaugh is recognized internationally for his pioneering research examining the memory-enhancing effects of pharmacological compounds and hormones that influence brain neurochemical systems. He is director of the Bonney Center for Neurobiology of Learning and Memory and professor of psychobiology at the University of California, Irvine.

He started his academic career at San Jose State University in 1957 as assistant professor of psychology and was promoted to associate professor in 1960. In 1961 he moved to the University of Oregon as associate professor of psychology.

In 1964 Dr. McGaugh joined the faculty of the University of California, Irvine, where he became founding chairperson of the Department of Psychobiology and where he has continued teaching, research, and administration to the present. He was named professor in psychobiology in 1966, professor in psychiatry in 1968 and professor in the School of Social Sciences in 1980, positions he still holds.

Dr. McGaugh also has served as acting dean and dean of the School of Biological Sciences and vice chancellor and executive vice chancellor of Academic Affairs. He was named to his present position of director of the Center for Neurobiology of Learning and Memory in 1983. He has supervised the production of a dozen doctoral dissertations by his students on subjects relating to learning and memory.

Since being named an Abraham Rosenberg Research Fellow for 1955–56, Dr. McGaugh has been honored by—among others—the National Academy of Sciences, Sigma Xi, Phi Beta Kappa, the American Psychological Association, the National Institute of Mental Health, and the American Psychological Society (of which he is currently president). He has won the San Jose State University Distinguished Alumnus Award and the Distinguished Alumnus Award for that institution's School of Social Science, and the Extraordinarius Award and Distinguished Faculty Lectureship Award from the University of California, Irvine.

Dr. McGaugh is author or editor of 15 books and has had some 300 scientific research articles published. He is the founding editor of the scientific journal Behavioral and Neural Biology and is affiliated with several other scientific journals in editorial or advisory capacities.

Over the years, Dr. McGaugh has served on numerous scientific advisory committees. He is currently a member of the External Advisory Review Committee Beckman Institute for Advanced Science and Technology, University of Illinois; and Section Psychology (J), American Association for Advancement of Science.

In recognition of his outstanding contributions as a scientist, administrator, and leader in the fields of psychology and neurobiology, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale finds it fitting and proper to bestow on James L. McGaugh the honorary degree Doctor of Science.

Doctor of Commercial Science

Kenneth N. Pontikes

Kenneth N. Pontikes, chairman of the board and president of Comdisco Inc., is well known to the Southern Illinois University at Carbondale community through his sustained contributions to the SIUC College of Business and Administration in particular and the University in general. The societal benefits of these and other contributions have been acknowledged through a number of awards, including his election as a charter member of the SIUC Alumni Hall of Fame.

Mr. Pontikes, son of a Greek immigrant grocer, now heads the world's largest independent computer leasing and marketing company, with 1989 total revenue of $1.7 billion. In 1962, he received a Bachelor of Science degree in marketing from SIUC. In 1969, after six years as an IBM company supply salesman, he left IBM to found Comdisco. He borrowed $5,000 from his father to start the company, which began as a computer brokerage firm and expanded to become a third-party lessor, dealer, and remarketer of computers and peripheral equipment.

Comdisco tackled the giant IBM in 1980 with a decision to penetrate the IBM mid-level main-frame computer market and captured 20 percent of the market that year. Also in 1980, Comdisco entered the international arena. Nihon Comdisco K.K., with leasing affiliates in five of the largest Japanese banks, was started in 1986. International operations in Canada, Europe, and South America represented 26 percent of the company's 1986 revenue.

Mr. Pontikes' advice on how to succeed in business is: "Opportunities are Everywhere."

In 1988, Mr. Pontikes was a co-recipient of the Medallion for Entrepreneurship from Beta Gamma Sigma, a national honorary business fraternity, for combining outstanding business achievement with service to humanity.

Also in 1988, he received the Peat Marwick High Tech Entrepreneur Award for Outstanding Achievement in Illinois. Entries are judged on the nominee's contribution to the success of the high-technology company.

Mr. Pontikes was named 1985–86 International Entrepreneur of the Year by the SIUC College of Business and Administration. He subsequently chaired the College's Time for Pride capital campaign, which was completed in 1989, having raised $4 million. He contributed personally and professionally to the fund-raising campaign, a significant outcome of which was the establishment of the Pontikes Center for Management Information. The center, aided by a $1 million endowment from Mr. Pontikes, is dedicated to the advancement of practical and theoretical knowledge and learning in the management of information.

Apart from establishing the endowment, Mr. Pontikes was instrumental in obtaining a gift of computer software worth $230,000 for the center and also gave the center two high-end PCs.

Mr. Pontikes has donated more than 50 PCs with monitors and a number of printers to the College of Business and Administration. He has served on the COBA Advisory Board and has donated space for SIUC's Chicago office. He also is a regular contributor to a number of charitable organizations.

"Mr. Pontikes personifies what SIUC is all about," wrote Arkalgud Ramaprasad, associate professor in the College of Business and Administration, in his letter of nomination. "He is a first-generation college graduate. From small beginnings he has reached a position of eminence in business. He has successfully competed against giants in the field. He has shared his success with his alma mater."

In recognition of his achievements in the international business community and his considerable contributions of time, energy,and resources toward the growth and development of SIUC, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale finds it fitting and proper to bestow on Kenneth N. Pontikes the honorary degree Doctor of Commercial Science.

Academic Regalia

The academic regalia, consisting of cap, gown, and hood, originated about the twelfth century and was worn primarily for warmth. Later, the material of the gown and lining and shape of the hood represented the economic and social as well as the academic status of the wearer.

In 1895, a commission of American educators established an inter-collegiate code for the academic regalia. This code, revised in 1932 and again in 1960, provides a comprehensive system of academic regalia for American colleges and universities. While the code specifies black gowns, foreign universities and a growing number of American universities have gowns of various colors.

There are three types of gowns and hoods—the bachelor's, master's, and doctor's. The bachelor's gown is untrimmed and has a closed front and long pointed sleeves. Women may wear a white collar with the bachelor's gown when no hood is worn. The master's gown is untrimmed, may be worn open or closed, and has extremely long, closed sleeves with an opening at the wrist. The end of the sleeves are square with an arc extending from the wrist opening to the square end. The doctor's gown may be worn open or closed and has round, bell-shaped sleeves. There are wide velvet borders down the front and three velvet bars on each sleeve; the borders and bars may be black or the color of the discipline of the degree.

The hood for each degree has a distinctive form. The bachelor's hood is three feet in length and has a narrow velvet edging with little of the lining exposed. The master's hood is three and one-half feet in length with wider velvet edging and more of the lining exposed. The doctor's hood is four feet in length with the widest velvet edging and full exposure of the lining. Hoods are lined with the color(s) of the college or university conferring the degree. The color of the velvet edging identifies the discipline of the degree.

The black mortarboard cap is standard in the United States, although soft tams are worn at some universities. Tassels are usually black, except when no hood is worn, in which case the color of the tassel represents the field of study. Doctor's caps may have gold tassels. Upon conferral of the degree the tassel is worn on the left of the cap. Caps are considered part of the academic regalia and are customarily removed only during prayer, oath, or pledge, and then by men only.

Southern Illinois University School of Medicine graduates wear gowns of maroon, the color of the university, with black velvet borders and bars, and soft, eight-point black velvet tams with green tassels. The lining of the hood is maroon with a white chevron and the velvet border is green, the color of the discipline of medicine.

Commencement

August 3, 1991

The commencement ceremony is an important occasion not only for you but for other graduates, families, and friends. Although it is a happy time, it should not be a time of revelry. Your conduct at the ceremony should be dignified. Alcoholic beverages may not be brought into the Arena either by degree candidates or guests. Security personnel will be on hand to deal with alcohol or other distracting objects.

Commencement

August 3, 1991

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale

When its doors were first opened in 1874, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale was a place where teachers and scholars believed that their graduates should be prepared to make useful contributions to the health and strength of society. This is still our intention. Outstanding departments, dedicated faculty, thorough and often inspired instruction, and a thoughtful blending of old wisdom with new knowledge have become the hallmarks of the University.

Because this is true, we can point with pride to our alumni, many of whom are distinguished scholars, business leaders, artists, and public servants, and many more of whom are essential to organizations and communities throughout the nation.

Knowing that classroom learning is only one facet of education, we help students learn to play through intramural sports, training in crafts, outdoor activities for individuals and groups, a variety of musical organizations; learn to help themselves through wellness education, physical fitness training, and counseling; learn to help others through fraternal, community service, political, and volunteer groups; learn to see and know their surroundings through hands-on projects, field trips, lectures, and excursions of their own.

In encouraging students to explore the avenues and byways of knowledge and experience, our aim is to expand their views of the world in such a way that, while they focus on the particulars of their careers, they will be able to see their lives and their work in the broad context of the communities and the world they will be inhabiting.

Doctor of Science

Thomas Albert Sebeok

Thomas Albert Sebeok, a world-renowned scholar in semiotics—the theory of codes in communication behavior—is director of the Research Center for Language and Semiotic Studies at Indiana University, the leading research site for semiotic studies of human and animal communication systems.

Dr. Sebeok holds the rank of Distinguished Professor of Linguistics and Semiotics at Indiana University, as well as professorships in several departments of the university. His work spans the arts, the humanities, and the sciences. His list of publications runs to forty-seven pages.

He has been a Guggenheim Fellow and a Fulbright Scholar, a Johns Hopkins Centennial Scholar and a Regents Fellow of the Smithsonian Institution, and his long list of American fellowships, grants, and special appointments also includes awards from the National Endowment for the Humanities and the New York Academy of Sciences. Internationally, he has been honored by research appointments in the USSR, Romania, Japan, and the Netherlands, and has had visiting appointments at universities in France, Germany, Austria, Italy, Canada, Japan, Mexico, Uruguay, Argentina, and Romania. He has been active in dozens of professional organizations.

Dr. Sebeok plans to retire from the Indiana University faculty at the end of the 1990–91 academic year, at the age of 70. On his 65th birthday, a distinguished community of scholars presented him with a festschrift, a collection of articles by colleagues and former students, published in his honor. In the introduction to this volume, Claude Levi-Strauss, internationally acclaimed anthropologist, wrote, in part:

> In reading Sebeok's work, one is confounded by his familiarity with the languages and cultures of the world, by the ease with which he moves across the research on psychology, on the specialties of cerebral neurophysiology, cellular biology, or those ethnologists doing work on certain aspects of zoological species ranging from unicellular organisms to high order mammals, and passing through insects, birds and fishes.

Dr. Sebeok was born in Budapest, Hungary, in 1920, emigrated to the United States in 1937, and became a U.S. citizen in 1944. He holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Chicago (1941); Master of Arts and Ph.D. degrees from Princeton University (1943 and 1945) and an honorary Doctor of Philosophy from the University of Budapest (1990).

He has been a member of the Indiana University faculty since 1943, and has served as professor of anthropology, professor of Altaic and Uralic languages, professor of folklore, director of the Human Relations Area Files, and director of the Air Force Language Training Program.

In nominating Dr. Sebeok for an honorary degree, Richard L. Lanigan, SIUC professor in speech communication, wrote, in part:

> Thomas Sebeok represents the paradigm personality for academic accomplishment and contribution to the humanistic and scientific advancement of this country. He is in every sense a scholar's scholar ... His support for our faculty helped SIUC become the first university in the United States to offer regularly scheduled graduate course work in semiotics. In consequence, the Ph.D. in Speech Communication included semiotics beginning in 1976. This fact was a major factor in giving the Speech Communication Ph.D. national preeminence in applied theory construction in human communication. In addition, his work has been influential with our faculty in the Department of Zoology (animal behavior studies) and English (stylistics; literary criticism).

In recognition of his achievements, particularly in the field of semiotics, and of a long and distinguished career during which he has brilliantly illuminated numerous areas of science, the arts, and the humanities, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale finds it fitting and proper to bestow on Thomas Albert Sebeok the honorary degree Doctor of Science.

Ellen Gilchrist

Most recognizable for her weekly appearances on National Public Radio's Morning Edition, the distinguished author, journalist, and radio commentator Ellen Gilchrist has received numerous awards for her writing. From her first collection of short stories, In the Land of Dreamy Dreams, to Victory Over Japan, which won the American Book Award in 1984, her fiction has been highly praised by writers and critics.

Born February 20, 1935, in Vicksburg, Mississippi, Ms. Gilchrist received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Millsaps College in 1967 and attended the University of Arkansas in 1976. She now makes her home in Fayetteville, Arkansas. A poet and writer of fiction, she served as contributing editor to the Vieux Carre Courier from 1976 to 1979.

Her first volume of poetry, The Land Surveyor's Daughter, was published in 1979. In the Land of Dreamy Dreams was first published in 1981 by the University of Arkansas Press and later, after attaining a critical and commercial success, was republished by Little, Brown in 1984. The Annunciation, a novel, was chosen by the Book-of-the-Month Club as an alternate selection in 1983. Victory Over Japan, a collection of short stories, was hailed as "even better" than In the Land of Dreamy Dreams by critic Beverly Lowry in the New York Times Book Review. Gene Lyons, in Newsweek, called Ms. Gilchrist a "natural teller of tales."

Among the numerous awards and honors accorded to Ms. Gilchrist are the Poetry Award from the Mississippi Arts Festival, 1968; the Craft in Poetry Award from New York Quarterly, 1978; a National Endowment for the Arts grant in fiction, 1979; Pushcart prizes from the Pushcart Press, 1979–80, 1983; the fiction award from the Prairie Schooner, 1981; the Honor Book of the Louisiana Library Association (In the Land of Dreamy Dreams), 1981; fiction awards from the Mississippi Academy of Arts and Science, 1982 and 1985; the Saxifrage Award, 1983; the J. William Fulbright Award for Literature, 1985; and a national scriptwriting award from the National Educational Television Network for the play, "A Season of Dreams."

In an interview with Lori R. Clemens for Contemporary Authors, Ms. Gilchrist said: "I write to learn and to amuse myself and out of joy and because of mystery and in praise of everything that moves, breathes, gives, partakes, is."

In recognition of her distinguished achievements and her contributions to the world of literature, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale finds it fitting and proper to bestow on Ellen Gilchrist the honorary degree Doctor of Humane Letters.

Academic Regalia

The academic regalia, consisting of cap, gown, and hood, originated about the twelfth century and was worn primarily for warmth. Later, the material of the gown and lining and shape of the hood represented the economic and social as well as the academic status of the wearer.

In 1895, a commission of American educators established an inter-collegiate code for the academic regalia. This code, revised in 1932 and again in 1960, provides a comprehensive system of academic regalia for American colleges and universities. While the code specifies black gowns, foreign universities and a growing number of American universities have gowns of various colors.

There are three types of gowns and hoods--the bachelor's, master's, and doctor's. The bachelor's gown is untrimmed and has a closed front and long pointed sleeves. Women may wear a white collar with the bachelor's gown when no hood is worn. The master's gown is untrimmed, may be worn open or closed, and has extremely long, closed sleeves with an opening at the wrist. The end of the sleeves are square with an arc extending from the wrist opening to the square end. The doctor's gown may be worn open or closed and has round, bell-shaped sleeves. There are wide velvet borders down the front and three velvet bars on each sleeve; the borders and bars may be black or the color of the discipline of the degree.

The hood for each degree has a distinctive form. The bachelor's hood is three feet in length and has a narrow velvet edging with little of the lining exposed. The master's hood is three and one-half feet in length with wider velvet edging and more of the lining exposed. The doctor's hood is four feet in length with the widest velvet edging and full exposure of the lining. Hoods are lined with the color(s) of the college or university conferring the degree. The color of the velvet edging identifies the discipline of the degree.

The black mortarboard cap is standard in the United States, although soft tams are worn at some universities. Tassels are usually black, except when no hood is worn, in which case the color of the tassel represents the field of study. Doctor's caps may have gold tassels. Upon conferral of the degree the tassel is worn on the left of the cap. Caps are considered part of the academic regalia and are customarily removed only during prayer, oath, or pledge, and then by men only.

Southern Illinois University School of Medicine graduates wear gowns of maroon, the color of the university, with black velvet borders and bars, and soft, eight-point black velvet tams with green tassels. The lining of the hood is maroon with a white chevron and the velvet border is green, the color of the discipline of medicine.

May 15, 16, and 17, 1992

The commencement ceremony is an important occasion not only for you but for other graduates, families, and friends. Although it is a happy time, it should not be a time of revelry. Your conduct at the ceremony should be dignified. Alcoholic beverages may not be brought into either the Arena or Shryock Auditorium either by degree candidates or guests. Security personnel will be on hand to deal with alcohol or other distracting objects.

Commencement

May 15, 16, and 17, 1992

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale

When its doors were first opened in 1874, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale was a place where teachers and scholars believed that their graduates should be prepared to make useful contributions to the health and strength of society. This is still our intention. Outstanding departments, dedicated faculty, thorough and often inspired instruction, and a thoughtful blending of old wisdom with new knowledge have become the hallmarks of the University.

Because this is true, we can point with pride to our alumni, many of whom are distinguished scholars, business leaders, artists, and public servants, and many more of whom are essential to organizations and communities throughout the nation.

Knowing that classroom learning is only one facet of education, we help students learn to play through intramural sports, training in crafts, outdoor activities for individuals and groups, a variety of musical organizations; learn to help themselves through wellness education, physical fitness training, and counseling; learn to help others through fraternal, community service, political, and volunteer groups; learn to see and know their surroundings through hands-on projects, field trips, lectures, and excursions of their own.

In encouraging students to explore the avenues and byways of knowledge and experience, our aim is to expand their view of the world in such a way that, while they focus on the particulars of their careers, they will be able to see their lives and their work in the broad context of the communities and the world they will be inhabiting.

Distinguished Service Award

Walter J. Wills

Walter J. Wills, emeritus professor in the Department of Agribusiness Economics at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, served SIUC as professor and administrator for twenty-seven years, during which he developed a reputation as an agricultural transportation and marketing specialist and became a recognized authority on U.S. agricultural cooperatives.

Dr. Wills was born on Oct. 8, 1915, near Beecher City, Illinois. He received an associate degree from Blackburn College in 1934, and B.S. (1936), M.S. (1937) and Ph.D. (1952) degrees in agricultural economics from the University of Illinois.

In 1956 Dr. Wills joined the SIUC faculty as chairman of the Department of Agricultural Industries (now the departments of Agribusiness Economics and Agricultural Education and Mechanization), a position he held for seventeen years. He served as professor of agribusiness economics until his retirement in 1983; he has also served as assistant dean of agriculture and twice as acting dean of the College of Agriculture.

Dr. Wills is the author of three books and over four hundred professional and popular publications. He has been active in international education, serving as a Fulbright professor in Turkey from 1969 to 1970, an agricultural evaluator in Botswana in 1982, and member of an agricultural design team in Pakistan in 1983. He has supervised more than seventy-five theses by international students at SIUC.

He has testified before the United States Congress, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Illinois Department of Transportation, and the Illinois General Assembly.

Since his retirement, Dr. Wills has worked to establish endowments at the SIU Foundation and the Illinois Agricultural Association Foundation that will provide scholarship support for SIUC agriculture students.

Among the honors Dr. Wills has received are The Illinois Award for Outstanding Contributions for Improving Rural and Urban Understanding (1977), the College of Agriculture's Faculty Service Award (1966 and 1979), the college's Special Recognition Award (1984 and 1989) and the SIU Alumni Association's Great Teacher Award (1984).

In recognition of his contributions to the College of Agriculture and the University, the region, the State of Illinois and the nation, Southern Illinois University University at Carbondale finds it fitting and proper to present the Distinguished Service Award to Walter J. Wills.

Doctor of Science

Walter E. Massey

Walter E. Massey is a distinguished scientist with outstanding academic credentials. A researcher and lecturer on the physics of quantum liquids and solids, Dr. Massey also speaks and writes on the teaching of science and mathematics and the role of science and technology in a democratic society.

On March 4, 1991, Dr. Massey embarked on a six-year term as director of the National Science Foundation, which each year awards 13,000 to 17,000 grants for research in all fields of the natural and social sciences and in engineering.

Dr. Massey has also served as a member of the President's Council of Advisers on Science and Technology, as president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and as vice president of the American Physical Society. From 1984 to 1991 he was vice president for research at the Argonne National Laboratory of the University of Chicago.

Born April 5, 1938, in Hattiesburg, Mississippi, Dr. Massey earned his B.S. in physics and mathematics from Morehouse College in 1958 and his M.S. and Ph.D. in physics from Washington University in 1966. He has served as a professor at the University of Illinois and as a professor and dean at Brown University. Since 1979 he has been a professor at the University of Chicago, where he served as vice president of research during 1983 and 1984 before moving to his position at the Argonne laboratory.

Dr. Massey has been a member of the National Science Board, the Board of Trustees of Washington University, the Board of Trustees of Brown University, and the Governor of Illinois' Commission on Science and Technology.

Among Dr. Massey's numerous awards is the Distinguished Service Citation of the American Association of Physics Teachers.

He has served as a trustee of Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry, the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, and the Scientists' Institute of Public Information. He has served as chairman of the board of the Argonne National Laboratory/University of Chicago Development Corporation and has been a board member of the MacArthur Foundation and a member or director of several corporate boards.

In nominating Dr. Massey for an honorary degree, members of the SIUC Department of Physics not only call attention to his reputation as an outstanding physicist, but also praise him for his contributions to American educational, social, and corporate culture. "He has worked to improve the education of the deprived community; under his leadership, Argonne National Laboratory has become a focus of major research activities in the world. SIUC is likely to benefit enormously from the advice of Dr. Massey, who has wide experience in advising federal bodies responsible for formulating national research policies. Dr. Massey will serve as a role model to many Afro-Americans who are aspiring scientists."

In recognition of his distinguished performance as a professor and researcher in physics, as a university administrator and trustee, as a member of national science advisory panels, as present director of the National Science Foundation, and as a leader in business, cultural, and community affairs, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale finds it fitting and proper to award the honorary degree Doctor of Science to Walter E. Massey.

Academic Regalia

The academic regalia, consisting of cap, gown, and hood, originated about the twelfth century and was worn primarily for warmth. Later, the material of the gown and lining and shape of the hood represented the economic and social as well as the academic status of the wearer.

In 1895, a commission of American educators established an inter-collegiate code for the academic regalia. This code, revised in 1932 and again in 1960, provides a comprehensive system of academic regalia for American colleges and universities. While the code specifies black gowns, foreign universities and a growing number of American universities have gowns of various colors.

There are three types of gowns and hoods—the bachelor's, master's, and doctor's. The bachelor's gown is untrimmed and has a closed front and long pointed sleeves. Women may wear a white collar with the bachelor's gown when no hood is worn. The master's gown is untrimmed, may be worn open or closed, and has extremely long, closed sleeves with an opening at the wrist. The end of the sleeves are square with an arc extending from the wrist opening to the square end. The doctor's gown may be worn open or closed and has round, bell-shaped sleeves. There are wide velvet borders down the front and three velvet bars on each sleeve; the borders and bars may be black or the color of the discipline of the degree.

The hood for each degree has a distinctive form. The bachelor's hood is three feet in length and has a narrow velvet edging with little of the lining exposed. The master's hood is three and one-half feet in length with wider velvet edging and more of the lining exposed. The doctor's hood is four feet in length with the widest velvet edging and full exposure of the lining. Hoods are lined with the color(s) of the college or university conferring the degree. The color of the velvet edging identifies the discipline of the degree.

The black mortarboard cap is standard in the United States, although soft tams are worn at some universities. Tassels are usually black, except when no hood is worn, in which case the color of the tassel represents the field of study. Doctor's caps may have gold tassels. Upon conferral of the degree the tassel is worn on the left of the cap. Caps are considered part of the academic regalia and are customarily removed only during prayer, oath, or pledge, and then by men only.

Southern Illinois University School of Medicine graduates wear gowns of maroon, the color of the university, with black velvet borders and bars, and soft, eight-point black velvet tams with green tassels. The lining of the hood is maroon with a white chevron and the velvet border is green, the color of the discipline of medicine.

Commencement

August 8, 1992

The commencement ceremony is an important occasion not only for you but for other graduates, families, and friends. Although it is a happy time, it should not be a time of revelry. Your conduct at the ceremony should be dignified. Alcoholic beverages may not be brought into the Arena either by degree candidates or guests. Security personnel will be on hand to deal with alcohol or other distracting objects.

Commencement

August 8, 1992

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale

When its doors were first opened in 1874, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale was a place where teachers and scholars believed that their graduates should be prepared to make useful contributions to the health and strength of society. This is still our intention. Outstanding departments, dedicated faculty, thorough and often inspired instruction, and a thoughtful blending of old wisdom with new knowledge have become the hallmarks of the University.

Because this is true, we can point with pride to our alumni, many of whom are distinguished scholars, business leaders, artists, and public servants, and many more of whom are essential to organizations and communities throughout the nation.

Knowing that classroom learning is only one facet of education, we help students learn to play through intramural sports, training in crafts, outdoor activities for individuals and groups, a variety of musical organizations; learn to help themselves through wellness education, physical fitness training, and counseling; learn to help others through fraternal, community service, political, and volunteer groups; learn to see and know their surroundings through hands-on projects, field trips, lectures, and excursions of their own.

In encouraging students to explore the avenues and byways of knowledge and experience, our aim is to expand their views of the world in such a way that, while they focus on the particulars of their careers, they will be able to see their lives and their work in the broad context of the communities and the world they will be inhabiting.

Academic Regalia

The academic regalia, consisting of cap, gown, and hood, originated about the twelfth century and was worn primarily for warmth. Later, the material of the gown and lining and shape of the hood represented the economic and social as well as the academic status of the wearer.

In 1895, a commission of American educators established an inter-collegiate code for the academic regalia. This code, revised in 1932 and again in 1960, provides a comprehensive system of academic regalia for American colleges and universities. While the code specifies black gowns, foreign universities and a growing number of American universities have gowns of various colors.

There are three types of gowns and hoods—the bachelor's, master's, and doctor's. The bachelor's gown is untrimmed and has a closed front and long pointed sleeves. Women may wear a white collar with the bachelor's gown when no hood is worn. The master's gown is untrimmed, may be worn open or closed, and has extremely long, closed sleeves with an opening at the wrist. The end of the sleeves are square with an arc extending from the wrist opening to the square end. The doctor's gown may be worn open or closed and has round, bell-shaped sleeves. There are wide velvet borders down the front and three velvet bars on each sleeve; the borders and bars may be black or the color of the discipline of the degree.

The hood for each degree has a distinctive form. The bachelor's hood is three feet in length and has a narrow velvet edging with little of the lining exposed. The master's hood is three and one-half feet in length with wider velvet edging and more of the lining exposed. The doctor's hood is four feet in length with the widest velvet edging and full exposure of the lining. Hoods are lined with the color(s) of the college or university conferring the degree. The color of the velvet edging identifies the discipline of the degree.

The black mortarboard cap is standard in the United States, although soft tams are worn at some universities. Tassels are usually black, except when no hood is worn, in which case the color of the tassel represents the field of study. Doctor's caps may have gold tassels. Upon conferral of the degree the tassel is worn on the left of the cap. Caps are considered part of the academic regalia and are customarily removed only during prayer, oath, or pledge, and then by men only.

Southern Illinois University School of Medicine graduates wear gowns of maroon, the color of the university, with black velvet borders and bars, and soft, eight-point black velvet tams with green tassels. The lining of the hood is maroon with a white chevron and the velvet border is green, the color of the discipline of medicine.

May 14, 15, and 16, 1993

The commencement ceremony is an important occasion not only for you but for other graduates, families, and friends. Although it is a happy time, it should not be a time of revelry. Your conduct at the ceremony should be dignified. Alcoholic beverages may not be brought into either the Arena or Shryock Auditorium either by degree candidates or guests. Security personnel will be on hand to deal with alcohol or other distracting objects.

Commencement

May 14, 15, and 16, 1993

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale

When its doors were first opened in 1874, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale was a place where teachers and scholars believed that their graduates should be prepared to make useful contributions to the health and strength of society. This is still our intention. Outstanding departments, dedicated faculty, thorough and often inspired instruction, and a thoughtful blending of old wisdom with new knowledge have become the hallmarks of the University.

Because this is true, we can point with pride to our alumni, many of whom are distinguished scholars, business leaders, artists, and public servants, and many more of whom are essential to organizations and communities throughout the nation.

Knowing that classroom learning is only one facet of education, we help students learn to play through intramural sports, training in crafts, outdoor activities for individuals and groups, a variety of musical organizations; learn to help themselves through wellness education, physical fitness training, and counseling; learn to help others through fraternal, community service, political, and volunteer groups; learn to see and know their surroundings through hands-on projects, field trips, lectures, and excursions of their own.

In encouraging students to explore the avenues and byways of knowledge and experience, our aim is to expand their view of the world in such a way that, while they focus on the particulars of their careers, they will be able to see their lives and their work in the broad context of the communities and the world they will be inhabiting.

Distinguished Service Award

Lewis E. Hahn

Lewis E. Hahn, Emeritus Professor of Philosophy at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, an internationally recognized scholar and the editor of the Library of Living Philosophers, has contributed three decades of exemplary service to the University.

Dr. Hahn served on the philosophy faculty of the University for fourteen years, as research professor and director of graduate studies from 1963 to 1974 and as research professor from 1975 to 1977. Although he has been retired since 1977, he has served as visiting professor at the University and has been the editor of the Library of Living Philosophers since 1981.

Working with Dr. Schilpp, Dr. Hahn was co-editor of volumes on Gabriel Marcel, W. V. Quine and G. H. von Wright. In 1991 he completed editing a volume on the philosophy of Charles Hartshorne, and he is currently editing volumes on the philosophies of Ayer, Ricoeur, Weiss, Chisholm, Donald Davidson, Strawson, Thomas S. Kuhn, Habermas and S. H. Nasr.

Dr. Hahn was born on Sept. 26, 1908, in Swenson, Texas. He received a Bachelor of Arts degree in English and a Master of Arts degree in philosophy in 1929, both from the University of Texas at Austin. He received his doctorate in philosophy from the University of California at Berkeley in 1939. He served on the faculty of the University of Missouri from 1936 to 1949, was a visiting lecturer at Princeton University in 1947, and from 1941 to 1963 was professor and chairman of philosophy at Washington University, St. Louis, where he also served as acting dean of faculties (1954) and dean of the graduate school from 1954 to 1963.

Elected to Phi Beta Kappa in 1929, Dr. Hahn has received numerous honors during his long and distinguished career, both in this country and abroad, including Directory of American Philosophers Man of the Year in 1966 and 1967; was listed in Outstanding Educators of America in 1973; was an invited lecturer in various Chinese universities; became an honorary life member of the Southern Society for Philosophy and Psychology in 1980; received the first Award for Exceptional Service from the Western Division of the American Philosophical Association; and has been a member of Phi Beta Kappa Associates since 1985.

Dr. Hahn has been active in a number of professional societies and was one of the founders of the Society for the Advancement of American Philosophy. He has served on a full complement of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale committees during his association with the University, most recently the Departmental Committee of the Whole and the Graduate Placement Committee. He was chairperson of the SIUC Emeritus College's Public Affairs Forum from 1986 to 1990. He has participated in the writing or editing of more than twenty books and has had dozens of articles published in professional journals.

In nominating Dr. Hahn for this award, Matthew Kelley, chairperson of the SIUC Department of Philosophy, and philosophy professors David Clarke, John Howie, and George Schedler praised "his outstanding scholarly work, his renown and recognition by international philosophers, and his steadfast commitment to service at Southern for [more than] twenty-five years and wider ranging service to the international community.

"[Dr. Hahn] has made and continues to make outstanding scholarly contributions and is widely known and respected in this country and internationally."

In recognition of his contributions to the Department of Philosophy and to the University, as well as to the international community of scholars, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale finds it fitting and proper to present the Distinguished Service Award to Lewis E. Hahn.

Distinguished Service Award

Marvin D. Kleinau

Marvin D. Kleinau served Southern Illinois University at Carbondale for some twenty years as a faculty member in the Department of Speech Communication, as chairman of that department from 1980 to 1989, and as Acting Dean of the College of Communications and Fine Arts from 1989 to 1991. He retired at the end of August 1991.

Dr. Kleinau was born on August 31, 1929, in Geneseo, Illinois. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Northern Illinois University in 1952 and 1960 and his Ph.D. from Southern Illinois University at Carbondale in 1977. He joined the SIUC faculty in 1963. He is the author of a number of publications on debate and is co-author of several books. He has served as president of the Illinois Speech and Theatre Association, president of the Illinois Oratory Association, and governor of Illinois Province of Pi Kappa Delta, and as a member of other professional organizations.

During his career at the University, Dr. Kleinau was called upon to provide leadership in a variety of difficult assignments. On three separate occasions he was elected by his peers to the position of president of the Faculty Senate, acting always in a fair, impartial manner and bringing about consensus when none appeared possible. Dr. Kleinau chaired the Planning Committee for Academic Priorities and later chaired the Task Force on Academic Priorities, exhibiting patience, impartiality, diplomacy and wisdom.

In 1986, President John C. Guyon asked Dr. Kleinau to chair the North Central Evaluation Self-Study Committee. This assignment was critical to the continuation of the University's accreditation. He brought together a committee of fourteen diverse individuals that created a report which was praised by North Central evaluators and is being used as a model for others to follow. He provided leadership and wrote at least half of the final report. The University will be judged in 1997 as to how well it shall have met the challenges and recommendations contained in the report.

Vice President for Academic Affairs Ben Shepherd asked Dr. Kleinau to serve as Acting Dean of the College of Communications and Fine Arts during 1989 and 1990 while a search for a permanent dean was undertaken. When no suitable candidate was found, Dr. Kleinau postponed his plans for retirement and served for an additional year.

Dr. Kleinau served as moderator for the popular WSIU-TV academic quiz program, Scholastic Hi-Q, while he was on the faculty and also after he retired. In this role, he became an ambassador to Southern Illinois secondary schools and created excellent public relations for the University.

Dr. Kleinau has received a number of honors, including the AMOCO Outstanding Teacher Award at SIUC, a National Award for Outstanding Instruction from Pi Kappa Delta, the Edith Harrod Award for Service to Illinois from the Illinois Speech and Theatre Association, and a Friends of WSIU Award for 1987.

In nominating Dr. Kleinau for the Distinguished Service Award, Dr. Charles H. Hindersman, SIUC professor emeritus and former Vice President for Financial Affairs, said, in part: "All faculty members are supposed to 'do service,' but few, if any, can match the level (breadth and depth) of the service achieved by Dr. Kleinau. Marvin did not have the word 'no' in his vocabulary if he was asked to serve. Instead, he always said, 'I'll try,' which always resulted in a job well done."

In recognition of his contributions to the Department of Speech Communication, the College of Communications and Fine Arts, the University, the Southern Illinois region, and the state of Illinois, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale finds it fitting and proper to present the Distinguished Service Award to Marvin D. Kleinau.

Honorary Degree

Doctor of Science

Murray Gell-Mann

Murray Gell-Mann, Robert Andrews Millikan Professor of Theoretical Physics at the California Institute of Technology and a renowned scientist with outstanding academic credentials, received the Nobel Prize in Physics in 1969 for his work on the theory of elementary particles.

Dr. Gell-Mann's "eightfold way" theory brought order to the chaos created by the discovery of some one hundred particles in the atom's nucleus. Then he found that all those particles, including the neutron and proton, are composed of fundamental building blocks that he named "quarks." He and others later constructed the theory of "quantum chromodynamics," which seems to account for all the nuclear particles and their strong interactions.

Born September 15, 1929, in New York, N. Y., Dr. Gell-Mann received his bachelor's degree from Yale University in 1948 and his doctoral degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1951. He was a member of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N. J. in 1951, 1955, and from 1967 to 1968. He served as a research associate professor at the University of Illinois and taught at the University of Chicago before joining the faculty at Caltech as an associate professor in 1955. He was promoted to full professor in 1956 and has been Millikan Professor there since 1967.

Dr. Gell-Mann is affiliated with a number of professional societies, including the American Physical Society, the National Academy of Sciences, Sigma Xi, Phi Beta Kappa, the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and the Council on Foreign Relations.

He has been a director of the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation since 1979, a member of the Leakey Foundation Science and Grants Committee since 1977, co-chairman of the Santa Fe Institute Science Board since 1985, and a Laboratory Fellow of the Los Alamos National Laboratory since 1982. He was a member of the President's Science Advisory Committee from 1969 to 1972, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Aspen Center for Physics from 1973 to 1979, and a Citizen Regent of the Smithsonian Institution from 1974 to 1988.

The author of some 100 professional articles, Dr. Gell-Mann has received numerous awards, including honorary degrees from Yale University, the University of Chicago, the University of Illinois, Wesleyan University, the University of Turin (Italy), the University of Utah, Columbia University, and Cambridge University (England), as well as the Dannie Heineman Prize of the American Physical Society in 1959, the Ernest O. Lawrence Award in 1966, the Franklin Medal of the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia in 1967, the John J. Carty Medal of the National Academy of Science in 1968, and the Nobel Prize for Physics in 1969. He was inducted into the United Nations Environment Program Roll of Honor for Environmental Achievement—the Global 500—in 1988.

Although his principal field of teaching and research has been theoretical physics, Dr. Gell-Mann's interests extend to many other subjects, including natural history, historical linguistics, archaeology, history, depth psychology and creative thinking.

His recent research, both at Caltech and at the Santa Fe Institute, has focused on complex adaptive systems, which bring all these areas of study together. He also is concerned about policy matters related to world environmental quality, including conservation of biological diversity. In 1979 he became a founding member of the Santa Fe Institute, an internationally acclaimed "think tank" in Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Dr. George J. Gumerman, SIUC professor emeritus, who submitted Dr. Gell-Mann's nomination for an honorary degree, characterized his contributions to science as "some of the foundation stones of physics." Gumerman also praised "the influence [Gell-Mann] has had on many people, many traditional and new areas of inquiry, and on the global environment."

President John C. Guyon, in forwarding the nomination to the chancellor, commented that "Dr. Gell-Mann is a very distinguished physicist and has a sufficiently wide variety of interests that he could be considered a modern renaissance man."

In recognition of his seminal contributions to science in the field of theoretical physics, his scholarly work in other academic disciplines, and his wide-ranging efforts to promote a greater understanding and stewardship of the world we live in, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale finds it fitting and proper to present the honorary degree Doctor of Science to Murray Gell-Mann.

cum laude 3.5–3.74
magna cum laude 3.75–3.89
summa cum laude 3.9–4.0

The averages above apply to all work taken at Southern Illinois University and in the case of transfer students to the total work as well.

Academic Regalia

The academic regalia, consisting of cap, gown, and hood, originated about the twelfth century and was worn primarily for warmth. Later, the material of the gown and lining and shape of the hood represented the economic and social as well as the academic status of the wearer.

In 1895, a commission of American educators established an inter-collegiate code for the academic regalia. This code, revised in 1932 and again in 1960, provides a comprehensive system of academic regalia for American colleges and universities. While the code specifies black gowns, foreign universities and a growing number of American universities have gowns of various colors.

There are three types of gowns and hoods—the bachelor's, master's, and doctor's. The bachelor's gown is untrimmed and has a closed front and long pointed sleeves. Women may wear a white collar with the bachelor's gown when no hood is worn. The master's gown is untrimmed, may be worn open or closed, and has extremely long, closed sleeves with an opening at the wrist. The end of the sleeves are square with an arc extending from the wrist opening to the square end. The doctor's gown may be worn open or closed and has round, bell-shaped sleeves. There are wide velvet borders down the front and three velvet bars on each sleeve; the borders and bars may be black or the color of the discipline of the degree.

The hood for each degree has a distinctive form. The bachelor's hood is three feet in length and has a narrow velvet edging with little of the lining exposed. The master's hood is three and one-half feet in length with wider velvet edging and more of the lining exposed. The doctor's hood is four feet in length with the widest velvet edging and full exposure of the lining. Hoods are lined with the color(s) of the college or university conferring the degree. The color of the velvet edging identifies the discipline of the degree.

The black mortarboard cap is standard in the United States, although soft tams are worn at some universities. Tassels are usually black, except when no hood is worn, in which case the color of the tassel represents the field of study. Doctor's caps may have gold tassels. Upon conferral of the degree the tassel is worn on the left of the cap. Caps are considered part of the academic regalia and are customarily removed only during prayer, oath, or pledge, and then by men only.

Southern Illinois University School of Medicine graduates wear gowns of maroon, the color of the university, with black velvet borders and bars, and soft, eight-point black velvet tams with green tassels. The lining of the hood is maroon with a white chevron and the velvet border is green, the color of the discipline of medicine.

Commencement

August 7, 1993

The commencement ceremony is an important occasion not only for you but for other graduates, families, and friends. Although it is a happy time, it should not be a time of revelry. Your conduct at the ceremony should be dignified. Alcoholic beverages may not be brought into the Arena either by degree candidates or guests. Security personnel will be on hand to deal with alcohol or other distracting objects.

Commencement

August 7, 1993

Southern Illinois University at Carbondale

When its doors were first opened in 1874, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale was a place where teachers and scholars believed that their graduates should be prepared to make useful contributions to the health and strength of society. This is still our intention. Outstanding departments, dedicated faculty, thorough and often inspired instruction, and a thoughtful blending of old wisdom with new knowledge have become the hallmarks of the University.

Because this is true, we can point with pride to our alumni, many of whom are distinguished scholars, business leaders, artists, and public servants, and many more of whom are essential to organizations and communities throughout the nation.

Knowing that classroom learning is only one facet of education, we help students learn to play through intramural sports, training in crafts, outdoor activities for individuals and groups, a variety of musical organizations; learn to help themselves through wellness education, physical fitness training, and counseling; learn to help others through fraternal, community service, political, and volunteer groups; learn to see and know their surroundings through hands-on projects, field trips, lectures, and excursions of their own.

In encouraging students to explore the avenues and byways of knowledge and experience, our aim is to expand their view of the world in such a way that, while they focus on the particulars of their careers, they will be able to see their lives and their work in the broad context of the communities and the world they will be inhabiting.

Academic Regalia

The academic regalia, consisting of cap, gown, and hood, originated about the twelfth century and was worn primarily for warmth. Later, the material of the gown and lining and shape of the hood represented the economic and social as well as the academic status of the wearer.

In 1895, a commission of American educators established an inter-collegiate code for the academic regalia. This code, revised in 1932 and again in 1960, provides a comprehensive system of academic regalia for American colleges and universities. While the code specifies black gowns, foreign universities and a growing number of American universities have gowns of various colors.

There are three types of gowns and hoods—the bachelor's, master's, and doctor's. The bachelor's gown is untrimmed and has a closed front and long pointed sleeves. Women may wear a white collar with the bachelor's gown when no hood is worn. The master's gown is untrimmed, may be worn open or closed, and has extremely long, closed sleeves with an opening at the wrist. The end of the sleeves are square with an arc extending from the wrist opening to the square end. The doctor's gown may be worn open or closed and has round, bell-shaped sleeves. There are wide velvet borders down the front and three velvet bars on each sleeve; the borders and bars may be black or the color of the discipline of the degree.

The hood for each degree has a distinctive form. The bachelor's hood is three feet in length and has a narrow velvet edging with little of the lining exposed. The master's hood is three and one-half feet in length with wider velvet edging and more of the lining exposed. The doctor's hood is four feet in length with the widest velvet edging and full exposure of the lining. Hoods are lined with the color(s) of the college or university conferring the degree. The color of the velvet edging identifies the discipline of the degree.

The black mortarboard cap is standard in the United States, although soft tams are worn at some universities. Tassels are usually black, except when no hood is worn, in which case the color of the tassel represents the field of study. Doctor's caps may have gold tassels. Upon conferral of the degree the tassel is worn on the left of the cap. Caps are considered part of the academic regalia and are customarily removed only during prayer, oath, or pledge, and then by men only.

Southern Illinois University School of Medicine graduates wear gowns of maroon, the color of the university, with black velvet borders and bars, and soft, eight-point black velvet tams with green tassels. The lining of the hood is maroon with a white chevron and the velvet border is green, the color of the discipline of medicine.
